

HOW TO WRITE A PUBLISHABLE MANUSCRIPT

Martin S. Hirsch, M.D.
Editor, the Journal of Infectious Diseases

This discussion will cover many topics relevant to the successful publication of a scientific manuscript. These will include the following:

1. When are the appropriate times to write and submit a manuscript for publication?
2. What are the reasons for manuscript rejection and how can I avoid them?
3. What are the criteria for authorship? For first and senior authorship?
4. How do I choose the appropriate journal?
5. How do I properly compose each section of a manuscript?
6. What are appropriate submission and revision procedures and etiquette?
7. What are the proper roles of medical writers and language editors?
8. How do I deal with supplementary data?
9. Are there resources to help me in preparation of my manuscript?
